
Meet the inhabitants of the Edmonton Valley Zoo

Updated 13 hours ago

The Edmonton Valley Zoo will be holding an event this Sunday in celebration of World Animal Day.

As World Animal Day approaches, organizations across the globe are educating mankind on animal conservation.

The last two centuries witnessed accelerated rates of animal extinction and endangerment.

As the human population increases, the animal kingdom's population decreases.

Habitat loss, as a result of human demand, is widely considered to be the most important cause of animal extinction.

For more information on World Animal Day and how you can help, visit www.worldanimalday.org.uk.

Copyright © 2010 Edmonton Examiner