London Zoo and the London Wetland Centre are offering agencies 10-12 per cent commission on any events booked until 12 October in recognition of World Animal Day.

ZSL London Zoo, which is offering 12 per cent commission, is also giving event organiser 15 per cent off room hire. This includes hire of the zoo's animal houses, where delegates can experience close up encounters with animals.

WWT London Wetland Centre is offering complimentary tea or coffee on arrival, guided tours around the 105 acre reserve, plus 10 per cent commission for agencies for all functions. Delegates are able to host meetings overlooking the venue's mosaic of lakes, pools and lagoons that are home to a wide variety of wildlife species.

Both venues are members of Unique Venues of London (UVL). Lisa Hatswell, Chairman of UVL, said: "By the very nature of our organisation, UVL includes many venues which rely on events and meetings to help support either London's history and heritage, animal welfare or conservation work. As such, we're pleased to be associated with World Animal Day and I hope organisers are keen to get on board with us!"
