Accordingly, torturing animals is disallowed, resorting to cruel methods in killing them is also disallowed and abusing their corpses or deforming their bodies is also disallowed. Anyone who wants to kill harmful animals should seek easy prompt methods in the foregoing, so that they would not include torture or pain to them such as the methods mentioned in the question and to bury them afterwards away from the abuse of people to their corpses or their harm from their carcasses.

It should be mentioned that killing harmful animals must not be a public behavior in which the human being controls such kinds of animals by eradication or destruction. It shall be imperative upon the competent entities to find alternatives that protect people from the harm of such animals and - at the same time - assist in maintaining the environment balance in nature that was created by Allah Almighty in the best order, which he perfected and mastered.

We are extremely grieved - while our faith calls us to such moral loftiness even facing animals - from what is happening in the Islamic world comprising external and internal aggression in which the human being is humiliated, the blood is shed and the savageness and cruelty surface against human beings who were honored by Allah Almighty above many of his creatures and favored; for He is the Best disposer of affairs & He is our Guardian.

Allah Almighty Knows Best.
